

Margino

This cladogram shows how all living things, past and present, are connected through evolution.

All life on Earth shares a common single-celled ancestor